Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, to all to whom these presents shall come, greeting:

Whereas, John A. Peck was indicted in the United States District Court for the Middle District of Alabama for holding persons in parole in violation of Section 5726 of the Revised Statutes of the United States—

Whereas, he demurred to the indictment, the demurrer being overruled by the Trial Court, pleaded, guilty, and on June Twenty-fourth, 1793, was sentenced to five years in prison for five years in the United States Penitentiary at Atlanta, Georgia—subject to the concurrent term

Whereas, he sued out a writ of error from the Circuit Court of Appeals, Fifth Judicial Circuit, which writ affirmed the judgment of the trial court, and

Whereas it has been made to appear to me that the said John M. Pace is a fit object of Executive Clemency.

Now, Therefore, as it is known, that I, Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, by Command of the President, have issued the cited proclamation, and have therefore directed the said John M. Pace to the full and unconditional pardon

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto affixed my name and caused the seal of The Department of Justice to be affixed (Signed) At the City of Washington This Ninth day of March in the Year of our Lord One thousand nine hundred and ten, and of the Independence of the United States the two hundred and Thirtieth. J. Roosevelt.

By the President, William H. Moody

Attorney General
